

AMERICA AGREES TO HELP EUROPE IN CRISIS

DECATUR IS MECCA OF HEALTH FORCES

Two Meetings Are Held To Plan Campaign Against Disease

DR. WELCH VISITS THE LOCAL UNIT

Tuberculosis Fighters Will Meet Tonight At Local Hotel

For today Decatur has become the Mecca of Alabama health authorities. Two divisions of state armies now are ranged against disease to say nothing of that army of practicing physicians, always on the battlefield day and night in the city today and will not leave until late tonight and early Saturday morning.

The division is that of the Alabama board of health as headed by Dr. W. C. Welch, the chairman of the board, with Dr. Welch came Dr. W. K. Shanks, whose headquarters are in Florence, and who at the direction of the federal government is working under the direction of the state board of health, as a sanitary engineer and health officer for the entire Tennessee Valley. In the party with Dr. Welch is Col. William D. Wrightson, whose headquarters are in Huntsville, and who although an employee of the federal government, as an anti-malaria expert and sanitary engineer, is also working in cooperation with the state board of health.

Dr. W. C. Blasingame of the state board of health office is also a member of the staff of the state board of health office and is also a member of the staff of Dr. Welch. The county health officers of the Tennessee Valley are expected here today to join Dr. Welch and his other associates in councils of war against disease.

The second army to appear here today is the one sent out by sympathetic people against the great white plague, that has brought premature death to so many splendid people. This army is led by Mrs. H. E. Pierce, of Birmingham, President of the Alabama Tuberculosis Association. Dr. J. M. Graham, executive secretary of the same association, is in this party, as is S. H. Malone, a member of the state executive committee of this association and many others of the Tennessee Valley interested in the destruction of tuberculosis. Prof. S. R. Butler, Dr. B. F. Austin and others of Huntsville are expected here to join the anti-tuberculosis forces. Also other people are expected from Hartselle, Athens and the Tri-Cities.

At 11 o'clock today at the Lyons Hotel the first council of war was opened by Mrs. Pierce and her associates, the immediate object of which was a consideration of plans for the coming campaign for increased funds in the fight against tuberculosis. The state executive meeting of the Alabama Tuberculosis Association will be held this evening at 7 o'clock.

Dr. Welch and associates in company with Dr. H. C. McRee, are making a complete survey of the health situation in Morgan County as effected by the county health unit, and by the Tennessee Valley laboratory.

Being a member of the board of directors of the Alabama Tuberculosis Association, Dr. Welch will be in the meeting of the directors of that organization, Dr. Welch will be in the meeting of the directors of that organization at its meeting tonight.

Subscribers Are Urged to Pay Sums

Members of the committees charged with the responsibility of lifting the entire indebtedness of the Benevolent Hospital are anxious to get a settlement with all who have pledged money to the hospital fund, it was announced by A. H. Hoff, treasurer of the finance committee, this morning.

Mr. Hoff said that all the bonded indebtedness of the hospital was paid with the exception of $200, and that if all who have subscribed would pay up, all indebtedness would be wiped out. Mr. Hoff stated he expected to furnish a list to the public soon, showing where every dollar paid into the finance committee had gone.

More Care to Be Taken on Streets

Announcement was made this morning by the city commissioners of their intention of requiring more care on the part of the public service companies as to the work of their employees in replacing pavements after removal to make different kinds of repairs. At the meeting of the commissioners Thursday night a long discussion was had as to numerous complaints concerning water pressure on the fire mains. The commissioners made plans to investigate the complaints. The three commissioners, the two city clerks and the regular engineer attended the Thursday night meeting, and the regular routine of business was transacted.

TWO MORE CHARGES AGAINST WALTON

(Associated Press) OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 26—When the lower house of the Oklahoma legislature recessed at 1 p.m., today for lunch, only two counts on the committee's impeachment bill remained to be considered before the complete bill is ready for presentation to the senate.

Six articles of the bill were approved at the morning session, all by a large majority.

(Associated Press) OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 26—With virtually no debate the lower house of the Oklahoma legislature, immediately after convening today, added two articles to its impeachment bill against Governor J. C. Walton, charging him with abuse of pardon and payroll authority and as having illegally issued deficiency certificates, when deficiencies in funds did not exist.

Passing swiftly to the charge the Governor had illegally "appointed a large number of irresponsible persons as state police," the house approved it.

Defeated in his efforts to nullify the orders suspending him from office, Governor Walton today is believed to be preparing a final stroke against the impeachment proceedings against him.

The executive declared he would continue to fight" although declining to define his future intentions.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 26—Lieut.-Gov. M. E. Trapp was declared acting Governor of Oklahoma in a decision of the state supreme court late yesterday making permanent a writ of prohibition against Gov. J. C. Walton and District Judge Tom G. Chambers Sr., which restrains them from interfering with the lieutenant-governor's assumption of the office.

The decision sustains a resolution adopted by the state senate suspending Governor Walton during his impeachment trial, and nullifies an injunction obtained by the Governor in Judge Chambers' court, which would have prevented the lieutenant-governor from becoming acting governor.

The court announced its decision orally after a brief conference following an afternoon of argument. The decision, it was explained made the writ effective against J. C. Walton as an individual and not as governor. Judge Chambers was enjoined in his official capacity as judge. The vote of the court was 5 to 4.

Notified of the court's action, Gov. Walton declared that he intended to continue the fight." He declined to say what he does is "up to my attorneys." He refused to issue a formal statement.

When the hearing started early in the afternoon, counsel for Gov. Walton demurred to the sufficiency of the grounds upon which the attorney general based his plea for the writ. The demur was overruled, and consideration of the application was started.

The injunction against the Lieutenant-Governor was granted Wednesday by Judge Chambers, who was appointed to his position by the Governor.

Announcement was made this morning by the city commissioners of their intention of requiring more care on the part of the public service companies as to the work of their employees in replacing pavements after removal to make different kinds of repairs. At the meeting of the commissioners Thursday night a long discussion was had as to numerous complaints concerning water pressure on the fire mains. The commissioners made plans to investigate the complaints. The three commissioners, the two city clerks and the regular engineer attended the Thursday night meeting, and the regular routine of business was transacted.

SENATOR KELLOG TO SUCCEED HARVEY

(Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—Frank P. Kellogg, former United States Senator from Minnesota, has been selected for American ambassador to London. He will succeed George Harvey, who recently resigned, and the appointment is expected to be completed in the near future.

(Associated Press) DETROIT, Oct. 26—Henry Ford favors President Coolidge, but he is more strongly in favor of a strict enforcement of the Volstead act, he made it known yesterday in a statement in which he asserted he believed the President could dry up the country if he wanted to.

If he does, I am for him strong," Mr. Ford asserted. "The President knows it is the right thing to do, He also knows the women of the nation are going to have a lot to say if he does not act."

TO COMPLETE DAM WITHIN TWO YEARS

Project Is Expected to Be Finished by the End of 1925

SENATORS BACK IN MISSISSIPPI

McKellar Believes the Offer of Ford Is the Best Solution

FLORENCE, Ala., Oct. 26—Members of the special senatorial waterways committee travelled back to the Mississippi river last night to resume its hearings in Vicksburg, Miss., tomorrow on the McCormick deep waterway bill after an informal visit to Muscle Shoals to view the construction of the Wilson Dam and power plant—enthused with the possibilities of peace time use of what was planned as a war-time project.

Coincident with the visit of the senatorial committee to Muscle Shoals, prediction was made in a statement issued by Hugh L. Cooper & Co., supervising engineers, that barring unexpected trouble with river discharge, the task of harnessing the waters of the Tennessee river, now estimated as approximately half finished, would be completed within two years.

Yesterday's trip was a break in the itinerary of the committee as originally planned and was taken to enable members of the committee, now touring the south, to conduct hearings on the proposal made in the McCormick measure for the appropriation of approximately five and a half million dollars to provide a nine foot channel from the gulf to the great lakes to view the work of construction under the personal guidance of Maj. Gen. Lansing H. Beach, chief of engineers of the United States army, who is accompanying the committee on its southern tour.

McKellar Impressed

"It is the most impressive piece of masonry I have ever viewed," Senator K. D. McKellar, acting chairman of the committee, declared after a two-hour inspection, afoot, over the mass of concrete modelled into giant locks and dams.

"The great project is making most commendable strides," Senator McKellar said in a statement issued last night. "That the power generated by this dam will change the aspect of this entire locality, and, indeed, the entire surrounding country, there cannot be a doubt. The best form of economic operation, management and distribution will be a leading question before the American people for some time as good men differ about the most desirable method of using the plant in the interest of the people."

Mr. McKellar expressed it as his opinion that "the most practical way of utilizing it so as to give the greatest value to all the people will be to sell it to Henry Ford."

"He has demonstrated his economic, industrial and financial genius," the Tennessee Senator said. "He has agreed to produce nitrates in a way that will give them to the farmers the cheapest. He has ample finances to make good, and he has the spirit to do the American farmers, especially, a service."

Sees Four Results

"In dealing with the project we must deal with it in a big way, looking especially at four results," Senator McKellar said. "First, that the farmers be given cheaper fertilizers, second, that power and light be furnished to all nearby users more cheaply, third, that industries may be induced to come into this part of the country where raw materials abound, and, fourth, that the plant be kept at all times ready for war purposes in the event we should be unfortunate enough" at any time to have to go to war."

Senator Swith S. Brookhart of Iowa who has favored government ownership, and Senator Edwin W. Broussard of Louisiana were other members of the committee who made the trip to Muscle Shoals. Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois, chairman of the committee, was unable to accompany the party further than Memphis, where hearings were held yesterday.

ANY TOWN OR CITY WOULD DESIRE THE GADSDEN CAR WORKS

Reports are current to the effect that the car works recently burned at Gadsden will not be rebuilt there, but in some other city of Alabama.

If it is true Gadsden will lose the industry referred to, there is not a city or town anywhere that would not welcome the great business. In all likelihood other cities are now making efforts to secure the Gadsden car works, provided they are to be removed.

Certainly this city would be more than pleased to have the noted car works located here. It is quite likely that some decision has been reached by this time as to where the car works will be re-established, but in case there is still a chance to bring them here, every effort possible should be made to that end.

THE MILLIONAIRE
TAXI

The young man who went broke trying to find the royal road to wealth on the New York stock exchange and found employment driving a taxi about the city in order to provide those minute articles of animal and vegetable matter by which life is sustained, did a highly commendable thing, despite the painful experience of having to outrage the false pride of his kith and kin. The young man in question is Mr. Francis O. French, Harvard graduate, cousin of William H. Vanderbilt and who was until recently an affluent broker who played them neither wisely nor well and is now forced to swing luggage and wait on those who order "a cab, please."

It is pointed out that the protests of young French's relatives are not well taken when it is remembered that the Vanderbilt fortune was derived in large part, from early and close relations with the express business in this country and that the difference between an express wagon and a gasoline wagon cannot in any way be construed as derogatory to the latter. A business that was respectable a hundred years ago certainly ought to be respectable now.—Selma Journal.

VALUE OF
NEWSPAPER COURAGE

An editorial written by Marcy B. Darnall, of the Florence, Alabama, Herald and published in "Alapressa" under the title "Newspaper Courage," has attracted much attention from newspaper publishers of Alabama, especially publishers of weekly papers. The writer points out that in operating a small newspaper three kinds of courage are required—moral courage, business courage and physical courage. Moral courage is required in deciding what to print and what not to print; physical courage in editorial reporting.

though less frequently nowadays, as newspaper publishers appreciate their responsibilities to the public.

The writer of the editorial lays emphasis upon business courage as an element of success. Lack of this kind of courage manifests itself most frequently through fear to charge fair prices for advertising space, lest some unreasonable customer be offended, and fear to maintain consistent business policies regardless of immediate consequences. "Through weak and vacillating concessions," says the writer, "for sake of expediency we accept business on any terms the customer may dictate—often at an actual loss—thus assuring our own financial ruin, or at best a precarious hand-to-mouth existence. While other business men unhesitatingly raise prices whenever costs make such a course necessary, many publishers of small newspapers accept unprofitable rates year in and year out, for fear of losing a little gross business. Fear that some merchant may cut out his advertising hangs over them like a nightmare. They toil on, hoping that some miracle may save them from ruin, knowing full well that the miracle will not occur. Yet a little courage might bring success."

Newspaper failures result from three causes, according to the writer—ineptitude, lack of courage, or an impossible field. Incompetency may be overcome to an extent by experience and hard work; a poor field may be developed, but lack of business courage is fatal and foredooms the publisher. The Alabama Press Association has been trying in recent years to correct the tendency of its small members to hold their services too cheaply, and a notable progress has been made. As they show increasing business courage, the place and influence of the entire field of weekly journalism in Alabama will be manifest accordingly.—Age-Herald.

IS BEAUTY
DOOMED?

A student of anthropology has discovered that the aliens of this country are more prolific and as there are fewer births among native born the American woman of the future is destined to become ugly as the years pass. The professor who made this announcement, however, failed to tell us what is his standard of beauty and there are as many tests of beauty as there are admirers of pulchritude in either sex.

Among the Esquimos the most beautiful woman is she who has the largest deposit of whale oil on her face. With certain tribes of African breadth of hip is the sure token of beauty and a woman who is so wide that she cannot rise from the ground when once she has sat down is the cynosure of all male eyes and the pursued of dozens of ardent suitors. Socrates tells us that the most lovely of the Greek women seemed to be those who smeared the greatest quantity of paint and other cosmetics on their cheeks. So that unless the anthropologist tells us what is in his eyes the unfailing sign of loveliness we shall not be able to go properly into despair at the prospect of a race of ugly American women.

Beauty is more or less in the eye of the beholder. Viewing by any being or anything with a jaundiced and dismal eye nothing seems fair and one who is in such a mood says complainingly: "If she is not fair to me what care I how fair she be," has uttered a meaningless truism.

It is not obvious that there has been any deterioration in the generally admitted beauty of American women nor do the candidates for prizes at our frequently staged beauty contests lose anything in comparison with the famed beauties of older days. A glance at the portraits of women reputed the most beautiful of their day a century or more ago reveals many defects of feature which would scarcely gain them prizes under the ruling of modern judges.

One man can scarcely gather sufficient data to reach so rash a conclusion. If he went on a pilgrimage of any southern city and possibly of some northern cities, he would find a wealth of beauty to confound him and give the lie to his conclusions. If he made his studies among the colonies of foreign mothers of ten or fifteen, many of them in somewhat squalid and unclean surroundings, he might well despair of the prospect for a beautiful race of women.

Yet even there mutatis mutandis as the logicians say, many of them might confound the critic if they were properly immaculate and tricked out in a bit of finery. Nature takes pretty good care of the beauty of the race and it is doubtful if a better standard could be maintained with the aid of eugenics or by limiting immigration. The foreign born too, may contribute something both of mental and physical beauty to the nation.—Selma Journal.

Prospects are bright for a much larger increase in the capacity of the Albany Silk Mill that has been contemplated according to a telegram just received by Ernest Wright, Superintendent of the Silk Mill from the operating offices of his company at West
Hoboken, N. J.

The wire is as follows: "What will cost be of duplicate building same as present; get bids from contractor who built present building?" Mr. Wright stated H. C. McCord, the well known local contractor, built the present silk mill building and that he had asked him to make a bid at once for presentation to the New Jersey officials of the company. Mr. Wright stated that the original enlargement plans called for a building that would cover around 7,500 feet of ground, but that it would take 10,000 feet of ground for the foundation of the duplicate building now contemplated.

FARM BUREAU HEAD IS DECATUR VISITOR

Accompanied by Mrs. O'Neal, Edward A. O'Neal, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau, spent a short while in Decatur this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neal were on their way to Florence where they will spend the weekend. Since his election as president of the state farm bureau Mr. O'Neal spend much of his time at his office at the state capital.

Asked if he felt that the boll weevil was as great a menace as recent cartoons indicated, Mr. O'Neal said "I think the weevil is a blessing in disguise, provided it will cause our southern farmers to diversify. We must raise other than cotton crops. I believe Southern farmers especially need to learn the lesson of diversification more than they need to pick out great big cotton crops."

"There are fine," replied Mr. O'Neal when asked for the prospects of Henry Ford getting Muscle Shoals.

The farm organizations are agreed on many things, but on nothing so much as that Mr. Ford shall have a chance to make fertilizer at Muscle Shoals." Mr. O'Neal declared he was sure Ford would make many personal sacrifices in order to give the farmers of the nation the benefit of his genius and accumulated capital at Muscle Shoals as a manufacturer of cheap fertilizers.

In connection with his statement concerning the boll weevil, Mr. O'Neal stated that richer ground and more intelligent culture were absolutely necessary.

Burned Buildings Are Cleared Away

Working companies are busily engaged in clearing off the two acres of ground formally occupied by the fabricating and ornamental iron departments of the Decatur Cornice and Roofing Company, the departments mentioned having been destroyed by fire about a week ago.

The site of these departments of the cornice and roofing company is located at the intersection of Lee street and First avenue.

No estimates as to the loss sustained by the cornice and roofing company have been made as yet.

ARMERS NOW HARVESTING CORN WHICH IS VERY FINE.

Now that killing frost has come, farmers are gathering and storing their corn. It is the practice to wait for heavy frost. There is such good corn to harvest in the section near here, and it is thought as much yield will be made as last season, and better quality. To help the corn yield next spring when farm operations begin, many are planting fall oats.

COTTON HAS PASSED THE 30 CENT MARK.

Cotton has passed the thirty cent mark on the local market, and every one seems disposed to sell at these figures. Today there is quite a lot of sale cotton in town from the outlying country districts, which was ginned sometime ago, and held awaiting a satisfactory price. That price now seems to have arrived. As high as 30¢ was paid here today, the market appearing strong and takers can be found for all arriving here.

This association is accomplishing much good in many ways locally, and is a live body of willing women and are deserving of the thanks of all for their unselfish devotion to the work in which they are engaged.

Business over, the members were served hot tea and cake by the domestic class, of Miss Euba DuBois. With their unexpected feature of the meeting enjoyed, adjournment was taken.

"Cake is real food for him when it's made of Dainty flour"

"And he likes it so much more than the cake I used to bake with ordinary flour. It is lighter and has a different taste—the natural sweet flavor that only the finest wheat can give."

"Dainty is made entirely from the choicest part of the highest grade wheat kernels—the grain's very heart. Absolutely no phosphate or anything else is added. The result is pure flour of such wonderful goodness that it couldn't possibly be improved."

"Your children will notice the difference as soon as you give them cake made of Dainty. They will want more and you can feel safe in letting them have it, because of Dainty's absolute purity."

The difference between the price of Dainty and ordinary flour is less than it has been in years, due to favorable crop conditions.

If you are not yet a user of Dainty, now is the time to begin.

CHANGE OF LIFE

Florida Lady Was in a Miserable Condition, But Says She Found Cardi Helpful, and Got Well.

Atlanta, Ga.—In explaining how she found Cardi so helpful during change of life, Mrs. Elta M. Bailey, of Route 2, this place, said:

"I became so weakened it was an effort for me to get around. I knew what was the matter, but I felt like I couldn't give up."

"I just dragged, and I certainly was nervous. I was so restless I could not sit down long—yet so weak I couldn't get about. It is a most miserable and such a helpless feeling."

"I would get depressed and out of heart."

"I began to feel, after awhile, there was no use to try to get well. This is all wrong, for it makes a person worse."

"I had heard of Cardi, and thought it might strengthen me. A neighbor had used it with good results."

"I took one bottle (of Cardi), then saw I wasn't so nervous, so kept it up. Gradually the nervousness left me. I began to eat and sleep better. Was soon well, and all right. Cardi did wonders for me, and I certainly do recommend it."

"Thousands of other women have written, to tell of the beneficial results obtained by taking Cardi, and to recommend it to others."

Women to attract must Radiate Health/

BEAUTY is the magnet which draws all eyes and back of beauty—Health—working silently. Red blood tingling through the veins;—the glow of youth in the cheeks;—the spring of eagerness, of vim, of vitality in the walk;—the ever grace of air, unrestrained by care or worry;—all the charms of beauty. All the works of health.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, vaguely jealous, perhaps—wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness that is not theirs.

But why the wondering—the hoping—the praying for that craved for attractiveness—that beauty. Good looks is the barometer of one's condition. Good health radiates beauty. S. S. S. purifies the blood—creates new red blood cells—rids the system of impurities which make beauty and attractiveness impossible. As women to attract must radiate health so must they keep their systems free from impurities and their red blood cells ever increasing. S. S. S. does both.

S. S. S., since 1828, has been ridging the system of impurities—pinning, blackhead boils, eczema and ringworm—building red blood cells—making women to be attractive by radiating health. S. S. S. is made of carefully selected herbs and bark, scientifically prepared and proportioned. All good drug stores carry S. S. S. It is more economical to purchase the large size bottle.

TITLES MATTER OF COURTESY

Proper Terms Indicated for Addressing Sons and Daughters of Peers

Some interesting points dealing with the legal positions of the sons and daughters of peers were given in a society paper some time ago. According to the writer, the eldest sons of dukes, marquises and earls are called by one of their father's second titles; but in the eyes of the law they are only esquires, and possess rank and coronet as a mere matter of courtesy.

It may be noted that the eldest son of a duke holds the same precedence whether he bears the title of marquis, earl or viscount; while the younger sons of dukes and marquises are called by courtesy "lords," and their daughters are styled "ladies," but legally they have no handles to their names, and are, in fact, commoners. Thus, "Lord John West" is by law plain "John West," and "Lady Alice West" is simply "Alice West." However, custom accords them honorable mention, and their letters must be addressed "The Lord John West," "The Lady Alice West." In the case of all these titles, from that of a duke downward, "The" must never be omitted.

To return to the British peerage. The younger sons of earls and all the sons and daughters of viscounts and barons are styled "honorable," and of course, the sons' wives also. To write "The Hon. Miss South" is incorrect; the Christian name should be used, and the letter he addressed "The Hon. Sylvia South." An earl's eldest son who takes one of his father's second titles is styled "Viscount South" or "Lord South," but if he happens to marry the daughter of a duke or marquis the lady retains her own rank, which is higher than his, and thus becomes "Lady Grace South" and not "Lady South," as she would be if she were a commoner.

Peers sign the name of their title only, and never their Christian name. Thus the Duke of Somerset would sign a letter "Somerset." If the title happens to be a double one, the name is written in full, "Brougham and Vaux," "Mowbray and Stourton." And peeresses practically have no Christian name.

They sign a letter with the initial of their first name as a prefix to their husband's title. Thus Lady Derby would sign a letter "C. Derby."—London Tit-Bits.

Art Very Important in Japan.
In Japan and China art collecting is done on a broad scale and the collection is equal in class. Also, Japan has art in showing and using art, and has art in looking and admiring. A Japanese house is decorated with one painting, and one vase with flowers and few other things, and that is all, in one room. It may look bare, but if you are invited often you see different decorations, according to the season, in assortment and harmony. In a western home everything is exposed at one time and you know what is in the home the first visit. The Japanese way of showing art is admirable because the Japanese select objects according to the taste of the guest and also according to the season. Art is regarded as very important—next to life.

Green the Coolest Color.
There are "hot" and "cold" colors, according to advertising experts. A picture containing red or its affiliated colors will make a spectator feel warm, while one containing green or blue will produce a sensation of coolness.

The reason is simple. The mind subconsciously connects red with the glowing embers of a fire, while green carries with it the memory of cool, shady trees. Blue is symbolic of ocean depths, and conveys the impression of coolness, but not so vividly and effectively as does green.

A motion picture theater in New York bathed its entire front in soft green lights recently to entice patrons from the hot street. The effect was evidenced in an increased sale of tickets.

Inflation.
They are telling in Moscow a good story of a profiteer who sat in the best restaurant guzzling away regardless of expense. "How can you gorge yourself like that," asked a friend, "when so many millions are starving on the Volga?"

The profiteer took his knife from his mouth. "That's all right," he protested, "you know what soviet millions are."

Capitalizing Enthusiasm.
"You can't get something for nothing," remarked the ready-made philosopher.

"Several of my constituents think they can come pretty near it," replied Senator Sorghum. "They don't do anything but lift up their voices in the confident expectation that they can exchange three cheers for a government job."

As Long as the Money Lasts.
"She'll probably get tired of him before the year's out."

"Oh, I think his money will last longer than that."

THE LITTLE THINGS

He came a little sooner.
Than the other fellow did,
And stayed a little longer.
Than the other fellow would,
He worked a little harder
And he talked a little less,
He was never really hurried,
And he showed but little sress.
For every little movement
His efficiency expressa.
He saved a little money,
In a hundred little way's
And banked a little extra.
When he got a little raise.
Of course, it's little wonder
He measures with a smile
As his dividends come regular.

Bon Mots Here and There.

A writer whose work is out of a kind that sells widely says: "He does not care how poor he is so long as he lives in luxury." "Buy or girl?" a well-known editor's wife asked her husband concerning the newly born child of a couple with whom they were acquainted. "I don't know," he replied, trying hard to think, "guess they haven't named it yet."—The Bookman

Serbians Are Dry.

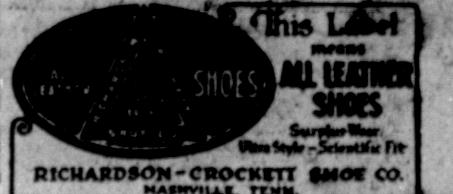

The movement "For Prohibition" is strong among the students of Serbia, and a number of demonstrations in favor of abstention from alcoholic liquors are planned. It is estimated that 80 per cent of Serbian students are total abstainers.

Bed Worth a Fortune.
The rajah in one of the northwest provinces of India is the possessor of an extraordinary bedstead. The posts are constructed of mahogany, the remainder being manufactured of solid gold. The golden bedstead is set with no fewer than 700 gems of all kinds, and the dazzling effect as the light falls on the scintillating array of thickly studded jewels is said to be almost beyond expression. As the bed is valued at something like $250,000 it is guarded day and night.
